One other caution should be registered in this troublesome business of the division of printed items and archival materials. If a printed item is destined for use with the archives only because it fills a gap in the manuscript records, as in the case of some of the volumes of laws, or if it is complementary to the records as in the case of the printed proceedings of the Assembly, or if it is of great rarity and closely related to the archives as in the case of a copy of Elie Vallette's Deputy Commissary's Guide received this year, it is listed with the archival accessions rather than with the library.
